

Because of the increased growth of commercial and residential areas around airports, it is becoming much more difficult to find suitable areas to practice aerobatics. This means pilots are traveling much further from the airport to practice than in the past. Most aerobatic planes can only carry about 30 - 40 minutes of fuel when configured for aerobatics.